About

I'm a senior UX/UI designer with over a decade of experience shaping product and brand experiences, from early-stage concepts to fully owned digital platforms. Over the last several years I've grown from hands-on design execution into owning end-to-end product strategy, working directly with CEOs and other key stakeholders, alongside IT and CRO teams, to align design with business impact.

I specialize in turning ambiguity into clear, user-centric product decisions, and in building the bridge between design, engineering, and the business. I'm now looking for a Senior Product Designer role where I can own product design strategy at scale and help a team ship high-quality, high-impact experiences.

Work experience

2023–2026	Senior Product Designer — allbranded Hamburg Owned end-to-end product design for the e-commerce platform, shaping design strategy in close partnership with IT and Conversion Rate Optimization (CRO) managers. Worked directly with the CEO and other key stakeholders on product direction, translating business and technical constraints into a coherent product design strategy that improved usability, performance, and conversion across the full customer journey. Acted as the design voice in cross-functional product decisions, balancing user needs against technical feasibility and commercial goals.
2015–2022	Senior Designer — AMPELMANN, Berlin Led design across brand and digital touchpoints — art direction, illustration, packaging, advertising, social media, and retail environments — while directly managing producer relationships. Co-designed the AMPELMANN webshop end-to-end as part of a three-person design team, owning the UX/UI from concept through launch.
2014–2015	Designer — Le Schicken, Berlin Designed cookbooks, digital platforms, and visual identities for companies, products, people, restaurants, and food fairs.
2013–2014	Intern Designer — IPHORIA, Berlin Assisted the art director in designing new collections, including the brand's e-commerce webshop. Designed and executed marketing materials for print, web, social media channels, and fairs.
